Re: In the Matter of Petition of USTelecom for Forbearance Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

I have been a customer of my local ISP, Omsoft, for at least 15 years. I deliberately selected this ISP instead of larger alternatives like AT&T because of their competitive pricing, excellent technical support, reliable services and extra features. The web sites running over my DSL require a static IP address that Omsoft provides. I am afraid that if only a few large ISPs were available that the competition to provide the specialized services I have enjoyed, at prices I can afford, would cease to be available. We also enjoy use of the land-line phone service (which AT&T would phase out) as it allows our grandson to be able to use a regular telephone without having to be exposed to the many other features of a cell phone.
